Harriet Tubman Underground Railroad Experience Wins 2018 MEDA Award

On Monday, April 30, the Maryland Economic Development Association (MEDA) held its awards dinner at the Hyatt Regency Chesapeake in Cambridge. As part of its annual conference, the MEDA award celebrates the people, projects and programs that are transforming lives by creating opportunities, inspiring innovation and enriching communities across the state. The Harriet Tubman Underground Railroad Experience was honored with the MEDA Economic Development -- Small Community award. For the full list of winners, follow this link to the MEDA awards page.

TFA Observes State Employee Appreciation Day

On May 9, seven team members on the TFA staff were honored for their service with the division with certificates of appreciation from the State of Maryland. Liz Fitzsimmons, Managing Director, TFA, presented the certificates, which were signed by Governor Larry Hogan and Lt. Governor Boyd K. Rutherford. Those receiving recognition were: Rich Gilbert, Travel Trade Sales Manager (30 years); Connie Spindler, Public Relations Specialist (25 years); Marci Ross, Assistant Director, Tourism Development (20 years); Jack Gerbes, Director, Maryland Film Office (20 years); Kathi Ash, Digital Assets Manager (15 years); Christine Stewart, Program Manager for Arts in Education, MSAC (10 years); and Ken Skrzysz, Executive Director, MSAC (5 years).

OTD Staff Attends Southeast Travel Counselors Alliance Conference

Maryland Office of Tourism Welcome Center staff attended the 2018 Southeast Travel Counselors Alliance Conference in Roanoke. The primary focus of the conference is to discuss best practices in Welcome Center, Call Center, and Fulfillment services in the region. This year's conference had a record attendance and included topics around marketing, industry relations, visitor experience, revenue opportunities, operations, staffing, emergency preparedness and technology.

Dundalk Showcased at Maryland Film Festival

Dundalk, Maryland hit the silver screen as the opening and closing feature films of the Maryland Film Festival were both set and filmed in the Baltimore suburb.

Local writer/director Matt Porterfield's Sollers Point, and House of Cards star Michael Kelly's All Square screened to sell-out crowds. Both films are set in Dundalk and highlighted various locations in and around the area.

This year, the MFF celebrated its 20th anniversary, and although final numbers are not yet available, individual ticket sales were up 12 percent and festival organizers estimate that more than 20,000 attended the festival. Sollers Point begins its theatrical run at the Parkway on Friday, May 11. ## Maryland Mountain Storytellers Date Change

In the last issue of Insights, we announced a call for Maryland mountain storytellers and a storytelling workshop to be held by OTD and MSAC on June 6, 2018. The date is being changed. We will announce a new date as soon as it has been established. In the meantime, if you have further questions, please contact OTD's Heather Ersts at hersts@visitmaryland.org.

Register for TFA's Regional Partnership Meeting

On May 15, TFA will be hosting its last regional partnership session in Flintstone. The goal of these meetings is to build and develop programs between state agencies and other partners involved in arts and tourism with the goal of appealing to in-state and out-of-state customers to drive economic and quality of life benefits for Maryland. The state agencies include DHCD, Transportation, DNR, Commerce, and Planning.

The day-long meetings will provide an overview of how state agencies can benefit tourism and arts partners, and include round-table discussions centered on marketing, research, access to resources, and idea generation to build collaboration and programs that will enhance the state's tourism and arts offerings. The regional meetings are being produced by the Maryland Office of Tourism and its sister agencies sponsored in part by AAA. There is a $20 registration fee for each workshop, and lunch will be provided. For more information, to register, and to take our brief survey, follow this link to Visitmaryland.org.

Register for Venue Sustainability Event at M&T Bank Stadium

The Maryland Stadium Authority (MSA), Green Sports Alliance (GSA) and International Association of Venue Managers (IAVM) are hosting a sustainability professional development and networking event at Baltimore's M&T Bank Stadium.
